GARMENT WORKERS QUIT IN 2,800 SHOPS

Union Claims That 60,000 Went Out on Strike Against Piece Work.

Manufacturers Assert That Demand for Lower Prices Must Be Met.

BITTER FIGHT PROMISED FORMER WIFE HALES

Make $100 a Week, but the Pace Is Killing.

From 2,800 shops in the metropolitan district yesterday morning at 10 o'clock there poured out uncounted thousands of garment cutters, pressers finishers, operators and sample makers, units in the second largest industry in this State, bent upon a strike which will cost them and their employers $18,000,000 a week.

Just how many of the 60,000 union workers engaged in the making of women's garments left their machines was still a matter of acrimonious discussion between union leaders and employers at nightfall. The labor leaders claimed a 100 per cent. walkout; the manufacturers, that 40 per cent. of the workers remained at their places and accepted piece work at places and accepted plece work at forty-nine hours a week in place of weekly wages on a forty-four hour basis. It is a fact, however, that in previous strikes most of the union workers have responded promptly to a strike call.

It was announced by J. Rubin, vice chairman of the settlement committee of the International Ladies Garment Workers' Union, the parent organization of the striking unions, that six hundred applications for settlement had been made by manufacturers. These, for the far greater part, were from small independent manufacturers not members dependent manufacturers not members of either the Cloak, Suit and Skirt Manufacturers' Protective Association, consisting of 320 larger manufacturers, or the American Cloak and Suit Manufacturers' Association, of which 900 manufacturers, sub-contractors of the larger employers, are members.

Calls Piece Work Slavery.

Calls Fleec Work Slavery.

At present there is no hope of mediation in sight, offers by twelve United States Senators and by Secretary of Labor Dayis having failed. Both sides are grimly determined to fight it out to the finish, and both sides have a reputation for hard fighting in strikes. The last conflict, in 1913, in which piece work was downed by the union, lasted from four to seven weeks, according to the temper of individual manufacturers; the battle of 1916 from twelve to seventeen weeks, and the struggle of 1910 from ten to fifteen weeks. The union claims, too, that it was never so well provided for in the matter of money for strike benefits as it is to-day.

"Piece work is slavery and it must not com; back," Benjamin Schlesinger, presiden of the union, sald yesterday." A plece worker can earn $100 a week, but he does not last long. The average life of a piece worker is 28 years. Then tuberculosis or some other disease gets him."

The manufacturers said in their strike statement: "The first day of the strike has convinced us of one big fact, and that is before the end of the week we has convinced us of one big fact, and that is before the end of the week we will have over 60 per cent. of our complement working under piece work. They have wanted piece work right along and only the union's method of cramming something down their throats they didn't want forced week work upon them."

Hepublican, Washinston Permocrat, New Mexico.

No Sign of Violence.

The walkout yesterday was most peaceable. There was some cheering as the workers poured out of the big clothing factories, which are in great numbers between Thirty-fourth street and Union Square. Strike hotices in flaring red were waved upon yardsticks, but the parades to the nearby halls—twenty-five of them in the greater city—were orderly. Disorder, if it comes, will come later, when funds of the strikers grow low and manufacturers attempt to operate their plants with other labor. The union leaders were emphatic yesterday in their instructions to strikers not to start trouble. One instruction card handed to them as they left the plants said:

"When picketing keep walking back and forth. Obey police when ordered to move on. Try to avoid arguments. Also see that you instruct the shop pickets not to raise arguments or cause disturbance of any kind."

A law committee has been formed to protect the rights of strikers should any be arrested.

A letter signed by Benjamin Schlesinger was sent yesterday to Mayor Hylan green was ent yesterday to Mayor Hylan green g

A letter signed by Benjamin Schlesinger was sent yesterday to Mayor Hylan and Police Commissioner Enright stating that the 60,000 men and women on strike have been ordered to refrain from that the $0,000 men and women on strike have been ordered to refrain from bickering and altercation. Cooperation in the enforcement of "reasonable" picketing rules is offered. The charge is made that the manufacturers' organization has in former labor conflicts hired private guards, "often irresponsible and unprincipled individuals with criminal records, to browbeat and assault the striking workers." Protection from these is requested. Picketing will start to-day or to-morrow, and strikers will gather at their various halls, including strike headquarters, at Beethoven Hall, 210 Fifth street.

In a statement last night for the manufacturers, A. E. Lefcourt, declared that the manufacturors are prepared to protect loyal workers at all costs. The workers who stuck to their posts, he cald, represent the major portion of the efficient operatives who are desirous of plece work, and the first to lay down their tools were the inefficients, the slothful and incompetent. The decision to return to plece work is due to the realization of the manufacturers that the public's demand for lower prices must be complied with.

Two Actions Likely to Be Merged and Tried Here.

Indication that the divorce suit begun by Miss Geraldine Farrar, the opera singer, against her husband Lou Tellegen, the actor, and his suit against her for a separation, would be consolidated into a single action, was had in the Supreme Court at White Plains yesterday when Justice Morschauser granted a mo-tion asking that the venue of the sepa-ration suit be changed from Westchester

The motion was made on behalf of Miss Farrar, and although a representative of Steinfeld & Schwartz, the law firm which is representing Mr. Tellegen, was in court, he offered no objection to it and the order sending the case to this county was marked as granted by consent. None of the papers in the case have thus far been filed at White Plains, but will have to be filed here as soon as the order of transfer is entered.
